REPORT

"It goes slowly. that's OK. it's slow work. You push. You move. Forward. It's OK. You do what you can. You do what is within your capacity. The important thing is to act. consistently. over time. with others." Unknown

2019 – 2020 year was a whirlwind of activities, blessings, challenges and opportunities. I could not have imagined the ups and downs that my 4th year as President would bring. My goal was to continue on the path I and the team set out on: Burn the Mortgage, the historic Miss Lou trip to Jamaica, new partnerships and collaboration, opportunities to lend our voice to issues impacting our community. What I could not have anticipated was having to lead through two unprecedented pandemics – COVID-19, a virus that brought the world to a standstill in 2020, and the tensions and pressures of racism coming to a head.

A highlight of the year was our board dinner with several past presidents, courtesy of Herman Stewart. The board spent time with Vincent Conville, Roy Williams, Kamala-Jean Gopie, Miah Bailey, Audrey Campbell and Herman Stewart. It was an interesting and valuable evening that allowed us to learn about each other, share experiences and think strategically. That discussion proved important throughout the year.

Stresses and Pressures

The Board and Committee Chairs workload continued to be an issue this past year. I did not think it possible, but most of us worked more hours than ever. For some of us, that pressure and stress was too much but for others, they assumed additional leadership roles. One thing continues to be clear: JCA needs an Operations Manager. I am very pleased that members in attendance at February's Quarterly Meeting agreed and approved the position in principle. Unfortunately due to COVID-19, the plans have been delayed but this remains a priority.

Membership Demographic Survey

Our first member survey - we received 181 responses to the Demographic Survey distributed in 2019.

Our findings include:

Revenue Generation

The Board held a Revenue Generation discussion July 2019 to clarify the ways in which JCA can generate revenue and identify opportunities. In addition, we laid the foundation of a sponsorship plan that identified JCA's 'assets', target markets, demographics, event reach and value to a sponsor. The principles of this work have helped us secure recent sponsorship from private sector companies including CIBC, Grace Kennedy (for national Independence events) and Canadian Tire. We have more work to do, but are heading in the right direction.

Five Opportunities

Fundraising - seeking to generate financial support for a charity, cause, or other enterprise.	Grants - a sum of money given by a government or other organization for a particular purpose.	Sponsorship - money that is given, usually by a company, to support a person, organization or activity.	Hall Rental - The JCA derives its revenue from its hall rental business. The hall rental review committee has identified opportunities to strengthen the services.	Social Enterprise - an organization that operates one or more profit enterprises to generate earned income. Social Enterprise organizations reinvest their earned income into realizing their social mission.

Operational

This past year, I continued to allocate a significant percentage of my role to managing day to day operations. This is because we do not have an Operations Manager. I try to ensure I reach out to board and committee chairs for information, advice and direction. I do not make unilateral decisions that have reputational and/or financial risk.

- IT Infrastructure Changes – we finally ended our relationship with the JCA server! The server, which we previously shared with CAFCAN, reached its end and JCA has finally moved into the 21st century now using Microsoft 365 and its various programs such as SharePoint and Planner. All JCA minutes and documents are stored on MS Teams. In addition, we now host meetings on MS Teams and Zoom.
- Hall Rental Committee – in the 2017 business plan developed by Roy Williams and Alton Brooks, social enterprise was identified as an option to diversify JCA's revenue. In order to achieve this, this past fiscal year, we started repositioning how we manage and identify the hall business by viewing it as a social enterprise. To advance this vision, the Hall Rental Review Committee was created to review the current hall rental business. Special thanks to the following for their time and expertise: Annita Gordon (chair), David Betty, Alvin Knight, Wendell Clarke, Orville Patrick, Herrol Mattocks and Jennifer McFarlane. The committee is recommending changes to hall rental rates and processes. Some of the changes include a preferred vendor list, mandatory vendor for security services, moving to cashless services, changes to the hall rental contract.

Partnerships

- Pan African Credit Union - This past year, we took significant steps forward in getting the pieces in place to secure approval for the Pan African Credit Union. The founding partners are the JCA, Lions Circle African Men's Association and, Black Chamber of Commerce. We signed a Memo of Understanding that takes us through to the one month after the official opening. The process involved extensive consultation with residents and stakeholders, development of a feasibility study and business plan. In addition, the team has been engaging with key stakeholders to secure financial and political support. The goal is to submit a proposal to Financial Services Regulatory Authority of Ontario (FSRA) in the fall, with approval in time to launch in summer 2021.
- COVID Research on Antibodies in Black People - The JCA was the first organization to be approached to partner on this groundbreaking research headed by Dr. Upton Allen, Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Toronto. He holds the positions of Chief, Division of Infectious Diseases, and Senior Associate Scientist in the Research Institute, both at the Hospital for Sick Children
- This Community Advisory Committee is chaired by Pamela Appelt and includes Dr. Carl James, Royson James, representatives from Black Creek Community Health Centre, TAIBU Community Health Centre, the Black Medical Students Network among others. The JCA Centre will serve as on the sites to obtain samples and engage the community in understanding why this study is important.

CONTRIBUTORS OPINION

U of T researchers to track the demographics of the COVID-19 pandemic

By Royson James Contributing Columnist
Sun., May 10, 2020 | 4 min. read

Toronto Star Article, May 10, 2020
His team will ensure his research includes some social science, including a sufficient number of African Canadians to provide representative results that allows them to draw conclusions about the COVID impact on that demographic. "We are very passionate about getting this info. The hospital and university are extremely supportive of this pursuit. We will partner with Carl James from York University and Adaoma Patterson of the JamaiQan Canadian Association to set up opportunity to ID as many Blacks who have had COVID to get an appropriate number" for the study."

Overview of Year – June 2019 to June 2020 (President's report cont'd)

- Tipping the Scales of Justice - In July, the JCA, along with 13 other Black organizations*, held a rally at Old City Hall to call for the end to consultations and reports on anti-Black racism and immediate implementation of over forty years of recommendations. Our advocacy efforts have continued at full speed. We have met with the Solicitor General and Attorney General for the Government of Ontario, Mayors Brown and Crombie, the NDP Black Caucus and Steven Del Duca, Ontario Liberal leaders. On August 1, Past President Audrey Campbell and I participated in the Emancipation Day march again to again call on various levels of government implement previous recommendations. My message was simple: "to elected officials and people in positions of power, the time is always right to do what is right. Let 2020 be the year that you commit to swift action on more than 40 years of reports and studies about racism and systemic discrimination.."
- Summer Student Initiative – this summer, JCA partnered with Genus Nation to host a virtual math tutoring program. Led by Dwayne and Uchenwa Genus, the weekly sessions focus on maintaining students' math skills and encouraging a love of math. We are so grateful to this team for volunteering their time to partner with the JCA.

COMMUNITY AND MEDIA ENGAGEMENT

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

- No one can predict how the remainder of this year will unfold due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The JCA Board believes continuing on the path we set out on is the right thing to do. Like you, we hope for a slowing of the virus and that no one from the JCA family is negatively impacted. By the 4th quarter of the 2020/21 fiscal, we will be in a better position to evaluate the financial and other impacts on the organization and Centre. The following represents some of the items on our work plan:
- Implementation of a Board and Committee Chairs mentoring program
- More frequent check-in for new board members and committee chairs by Nominations Committee
- Implementation of hall rental changes
- Proceed with hiring of an Operations Manager

It continues to be my pleasure to lead this organization with some of the best individuals on the planet. Thank for to every one of you, especially those who step up to build the organization. I truly appreciate you.

"True leaders understand that leadership is not about them but about those they serve. It is not about exalting themselves but about lifting others up." — Sheri L. Dew

Overview of Year – June 2019 to June 2020

This year the team goal was to increase JCA's visibility across all demographics, engage in mutually beneficial partnerships as well keep the organizations activities visible to the membership. This included various events where the JCA was a title partner or would get promotional benefits. We continue to send e-blasts and utilize social media platforms. We also set out to standardize and clarify the messaging going out of JCA and to update the website. Majority of these were accomplished for most of our events and some are in progress and will continue into the coming year. We also highlighted major events such as celebrating major events and acknowledging the life of those who passed.

Our online presence has increased with engagements from community members and other organizations that widens our overall reach.

Acknowledgements

A big thank you to everyone who assisted with communications this past year. If you retweeted, reposted, shared or forwarded a message - we appreciate you! Thank you to my committee members who are always open to supporting the organization, my ideas and stepping outside of their comfort zones or areas of expertise to assist.

A massive amount of gratitude to Alton Brooks, who was always available for questions as I got settled and also continued to support the team in whatever way we needed. He continues to be a wealth of knowledge as I grow in the role.

Thanks to Adaoma for staying on top of all the latest news stories and to my board colleagues for ensuring all events are documented even if a communication rep is not present.

We acknowledge the Caribbean Camera for making good on the commitment to showcase as many of our events as possible, whether in print or online.

Successes and Accomplishments

The communications team was able to reintroduce the InFocus newsletter which is distributed quarterly with a comprehensive update on happenings. We also prepare and distribute a weekly newsletter of events and initiatives as they become known. Over 950 persons receive our emails directly each week and also shared on social media.

We have continued to engage and promote through social media platforms, increasing our visibility and reaching a younger demographic. Our direct online audience is 10, 860 persons and our reach is amplified by those persons who share what we put out. Our average reach per post is 1700 persons. Our Demographic has a majority of persons in the 35 - 44 age group and the 25 - 34 age group coming in second and growing.

You may have also noticed that the weekly newsletters and updates look a little different. We have switched to an online marketing platform to ensure consistency and proper formatting. This also allows for better tracking and management of our mailing list.

In collaboration with other members of the board we were able to partner with various organizations this year that put our name and what we do into broader circles. We partnered with Caribbean Tales Film Festival, Maple Leaf Sports

Entertainment, Jamaica Tourist Board, Ceen TV, Caribbean Camera, ByBlacks and the Harbourfront Centre to host events and promote the JCA and will continue to seek and align with mutually beneficial partnerships.

Online donations and payments continue to be facilitated through our website as well as event registrations.

We are currently in the process of updating our website with the donated services of BrandEQ. If you have visited recently, you would have noticed some changes to the layout. This is a work in progress and will continue into next year.

The increased exposure of the JCA, has caused us to be able to secure more partnerships and contributions to our efforts. The benefits of these partnerships will continue to flow to our valued members.

Communications provided extended support to over 10 JCA and partner events over the last year including actively sitting on committees, news releases and promotions.

Some Feedback from our Newsletters:

"Your Newsletters are so informative; keep them coming"

"Congratulations on your very detailed mode of keeping everyone informed, in spite of this dire circumstances. Keep up the good work"

"Congratulations to the Director of Communications for reinstating the In-Focus"

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

There is still much work to be done and we continue to evaluate and adjust as we proceed.

Improving on what we started, the team will continue to work on building awareness of the JCA through partnerships and promotion, work on the updated communication and social media strategy with the aim of attracting and retaining the interest of young persons and implementing more virtual programming.

We will be introducing a template for communication support to be used by committee chairs for events. This will be sent out as part of this year's package to Board Colleagues and Committee Chairs and ensures that all events are properly promoted and receive the support needed to be successful.

We have shared that we are introducing virtual content in response to our current reality. We have brought two students onboard to assist us with the roll out of this and will look to continue into the coming year.

Director-At-Large, Advocacy | Yolande Davidson

Political Engagement and Immigration

- During the nearly 2-hour session, attendees were able to directly ask the Minister questions about system improvements and pathways to residence or citizenship.
- Collaborated with community partners including the Ontario Alliance of Black School Educators (ONABSE), First Fridays, the Black Business and Professional Association (BBPA) and others to execute a federal election meet and greet for Black candidates (October 16, 2019).

- Priorities for the Committee included engagement on the need for a Centre of Excellence for Black Student Success, which TDSB Trustees unanimously voted to establish in June 2020.

Social Justice

- Participated in a consultation by the Ontario Human Rights Commission on its new policy on racial profiling in law enforcement, where I provided feedback to inform thinking and development of that work (June 18, 2019).
- Participated in a consultation by the Toronto Police Services Board regarding its race-based data collection policy, where I provided feedback and considerations regarding officer accountability processes and maintaining integrity of collected data (July 29, 2019).
- Following a letter sent from Board colleague, Natalee Johnson, to the Chief of the Toronto Police Service, planned and executed a community meeting on gun and gang violence with staff from the Integrated Gang Prevention Task Force (October 8, 2019).
- The Task Force presented on its approach and goals to broadly engage the community, followed by an open discussion between its staff and community members.

Partnership Works

- Initiated and executed Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the JCA and the Toronto Police Service for JCA to be a registered agency under the Vulnerable Sector Screening Program.

- The application period closed on July 15th. A virtual awards ceremony will take place on September 26, 2020.

Acknowledgements

I continue to give thanks for the members of the JCA family who support me and the organization's initiatives. This includes my Board colleagues, who work hard every day to keep the lights on, which has a very literal meaning these days. The sound and dignified leadership of our President, Adaoma Patterson, has been a key factor in the organization weathering the current storm and finding ways to contribute and grow even in these difficult times.

I am grateful to Scholarship Awards Committee members Dr. Vincent Conville, David Betty, Kellie Spence, and Shawnee Hardware for your collective efforts to deliver a strong 2019 program and event, and for carrying that energy into 2020. Thank you to the Past Presidents, in particular Audrey Campbell, who have continued to provide guidance and encouragement. Thanks also to the JCA's committees for the important work you do. And, thank you to the JCA's amazing volunteers without whom none of this would be possible

Successes and Accomplishments

My proudest accomplishment is continuing to prioritize collaboration and partnership, to advance the JCA's agenda.

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

I will focus on contributing to efforts and initiatives outside of advocacy that help further the legacy and purpose of the JCA.

Chair, Education | Dr. Shawnee Hardware

COMMITTEE UPDATE

"Education is not the learning of facts, but the training of the mind to think" - Albert Einstein

Overview of Year – June 2019 to June 2020

The Education Chair, Dr. Shawnee Hardware, is very grateful for the opportunity to serve the Jamaican Canadian Association from 2018-2020. With the support of the Saturday Morning Tutorial Program (SMTP) Coordinators (Sharon Wright and Bridgette Barrett) and Tutors, I have been able to restructure the SMTP to make it more beneficial for the students and the families we serve. While we struggled to recruit a large number of tutor (volunteers), we were blessed to have eight tutors who were prepared to go above and beyond the requirements to ensure the students' learning needs were met.

For the 2020-2021 school year, we will have a three SMTP Coordinators (the two aforementioned coordinators as well as Prudence Betty) and may possibly offer the program via Zoom. In our July 18, 2020, meeting the SMTP Coordinators and I have discussed the following:

1. Restructuring the project to engage the students via Zoom. We are aware that it will be difficult to engage the students online for over an hour.
2. Monthly planning sessions with the tutors including a September session with the new Education Chair.
3. Recruiting new families and tutors to the program.
4. Planning parent and tutor orientation sessions in September.
5. Upgrading the SMTP Program Operation Guide to streamline the SMTP processes and also to differentiate the roles of the Education Chair and the SMTP Coordinator.
6. Testing the students using a Standardized Test Tool. We are aware of the critiques of using standardized tests for assessments, however, these tests improve the trustworthiness of our data. We have sent a request to the JCA Treasurer to purchase the test.

Successes and Accomplishments

The Education Chair has also supported the International Student and the Scholarship Committees. She is also collaborating with Michelle Davis, the JCA grant writer, to complete the TELUS grant which will support the SMTP.

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

Unfortunately, due to personal and work demands, as well as the demands of the SMTP, I was unable to develop an Adult Literacy Programme. I am happy to share the results of the survey I sent in 2018 with the new Chair.

Are you passionate about making impactful changes in racialized students' lives?

COMMITTEE UPDATE

"Life lessons is a tool, how you use them will determine the outcome so choose wisely." - Sandra Young

Overview of Year – June 2019 to June 2020

The fiscal year 2019/2020 was an extreme eye opener, membership saw an increase as well as a decrease with the loss of valuable members in the process. However, the Business Membership was introduced. In conjunction with the Covenant Funeral Homes, Membership came up with an agreement which granted active JCA members a 20% discount on any funeral packages that was purchased from the Covenant Funeral Homes organization. During my reign as Membership Chair I have sat on various committees such as finance, walkathon and gala as well as volunteer in the coatroom and bar during a variety of events at the JCA.

Membership has remained strong; we have seen an increase in membership dues and volunteers. The committee engaged in reaching out to our members via telephone and received overwhelmingly positive feedback. Overall, the committee connected with members who were shut-in and might not be handling the stressful pandemic issues. The Jamaican Canadian Association has taught me to look ahead and not behind in order to accomplish your goals. We are all here for the prosperity of the organization and to strive for success no matter what obstacle comes our way.

2019 to 2020 events attended as follows:

- Fitzroy Gordon farewell celebration at the JCA
- Pastor Audrey James funeral service
- William Knibb Memorial High Toronto Chapter Dinner and Dance August 2019
- Launch of the Jamaican Diaspora Council voting forum October 2019
- Black Candidates for the Federal Election Forum held at the JCA
- Malton Black Development Association Annual Brunch October 2019
- Forum with Minister of immigration Minister Ahmed Hussen
- Global Youth Diaspora event on Black Youth living in Canada
- Luther Brown retirement at the JCA
- Ex-Soldiers Annual Gala
- Toronto Police Black History Celebration at the JCA
- Black History Expo
- Ex-Soldiers Black History Event focused on Mental Health in the Black Community
- Consul General Lloyd Wilks and High Commissioner Janice Miller's farewell celebration
- International Women's Day Celebration at the JCA

Membership from June 2019 to July 2020

Total Active Members >> 344
New/Renewed Members >> 163
Business Registrations >> 6

Successes and Accomplishments

I would to express my deepest gratitude to the following companies: Buds and Bloom Florist, Michael Bakery, Carpenters Union and Western Union for their continuous support to the Jamaican Canadian Association.

Hats off to the following committees that made a profit during their programs at the JCA.

- Picnic at Albion Hills
- Seniors Brunch
- Children's Christmas Party

Thanks to the Women's Committee for nominating me for the Dedicated volunteer award this year and being recognized at the annual International Women's Day celebration which was held at the JCA on March 8, 2020.

Thanks to all the various sub-committees under the Membership such as Flag-raising, Senior's Brunch, Picnic Planning, Awards and Children's Christmas Party for all your countless hours and dedication to the organization to plan and implement programs that embodies the Jamaican Canadian Association.

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

The membership team continues to meet on a monthly basis to come up with solutions and how to implement them for the betterment of the organization. We are stream lining to see how we can further attract more Youth to the JCA. We are in discussion with other business organization to see how we can incorporate discount to our members. We are looking at a variety of ideas on how to get members together during this pandemic.

Chair, Building | Orville Patrick

COMMITTEE UPDATE

Acknowledgements

Special thanks to the following:

- The Building Committee for their commitments and foresight
- Chris Campbell and the Carpenters Union for following through on their commitment for the donation of new counter tops in Hall 1 Women's and Men's washrooms
- Alvin Knight for assisting with the kitchen stove repairs
- Owen Dunbar for consistent help especially with lawn care, small repairs, purchases, etc.

Successes and Accomplishments

Over the past year, we were able to accomplish the following:

- Repairing the kitchen stove door. Thanks to Alvin for sourcing the parts.
- The landscape around the building is an area designated for improvement. We put in place for activity days but few members turned out to participate. However, we are encouraged by the vocal support and still believe that the community will participate.
- Alvin Knight donated flowers to start a flower garden. We must show appreciation by maintaining and developing this project.
- Weather stripes were purchased and installed where needed. Thanks to Kenton, Owen and Steve for their help.
- Electrical rewiring of the CAFCAN portion of the building was completed.

JCA has a great opportunity to excel and create change. However, the community does not always feel connected and hence is not galvanized to help. The Building Committee's would like to have the full support of the Board as sometimes the success of implemented ideas and change is very limited. The JCA needs to be proactive about repairs and maintenance. We need to consistently work together.

Chair, Women's Committee | Camille Hannays-King

COMMITTEE UPDATE

Overview of Year – June 2019 to June 2020

Annually, the Women's Committee schedules four events for each reporting year. These are aligned with the JCA's strategic plan of building capacity through education, redefining leadership, and collaborative partnerships. These four programs are: The Annual Health and Wellness Fair held in October, the Movie Viewing and Community Gifting in December, the International Women's Day (IWD) - Women Recognizing Women celebration in March and the Roundtable discussion in June. Of these four events only IWD is revenue generating. While the COVID-19 pandemic caused the cancellation of the Roundtable this year; the other events were successfully presented. In addition, I developed and presented a Webinar on Building Resilience During a Crisis in response to the pandemic.

Health and Wellness Fair

"Healing from Trauma: Invisible Wounds" was the theme of the fair with the overall goal being to provide attendees with knowledge and resources on trauma and its impacts on the health and wellness on Black women and their families. The 80 attendees started the day with a hot breakfast and opening plenary, they then broke into smaller groupings for morning and afternoon workshops. These sessions were facilitated by trained mental health professionals who volunteered their time. Attendees were also provided with lunch, which was free of cost. The day was made possible with the generous donation from CAFCAN, Caribbean Lyme Restaurant and the generous donation of time from the professionals.

Community Gifting and Movie

This collaborative event between attending community members and the Women's Committee provided a selected community agency - Homeward Family Shelter o/a Julliette's Place, with gifts of monetary and personal items to be distributed amongst their clients. This year, there were 22 attendees who enjoyed a lively discussion following the featured movie Black Panther and refreshments supplied by members of the committee.

International Women's Day (IWD)

Women Recognizing Women 2020 was a celebration and an acknowledgement of Black women's achievements in the world of STEM. This occasion was alight with drumming, dancing, singing and spoken word performances. Hosted by Sandra Whiting, the event included an appearance by the Queen of R&B Jully Black who shared with the audience the significant role her mother played in her life and her strength in raising her as a single mother. The singer capped off her reminisces with an acapella rendition of "Let It Shine" and was joined by the audience. The keynote speaker of the event, Dr. Eugenia Duodu Addy was also one of five women receiving the Women Who Inspire Change award. She spoke about her journey into the world of STEM, and the importance and stress her family placed on education. She was honoured for her community advocacy and her empowerment of youth from low-income communities through meaningful engagement in STEM.

Dr. Juliet M. Daniel, a biology professor was recognized for her work in cancer research including the discovery and the naming of the KAISO gene. Claudette McGowan, an author of five published books was also recognized for her work in the world of technology in leading digital transformations. Mary Charles-Hill was recognized for her advocacy of STEM programming and encouragement of black students' involvement in STEM through workshops, coding, Math and Robotic competitions and international STEM conventions. Camille Mitchell, an architect and founding member of the independent organization BEAT - Building Equality in Architecture was also honored for her advocacy and mentorship of marginalized youth and students. The event also featured an appearance by Toronto Police Chief Mark Saunders, who gave a special presentation to Audrey Campbell from the Police Services. This was a successful event with 180 attendees.

Building Resilience during a Crisis (Webinar)

In response to the stress and anxiety that was generally being experienced as a result of COVID-19 and the ensuing shutdown, I developed and facilitated a Webinar on Building Resilience during a Crisis. Stacy-Ann Buchanan was invited to join me in this session as we responded to questions from those registered.

Advocacy

In addition to my role as chair, I assumed other tasks and responsibilities on behalf of the JCA which focused on supporting Board and organizational priorities and initiatives such as:

- Represented JCA at the NDP Luncheon
- Provided supportive counselling to a suddenly bereaved international student
- Represented JCA on the Emergency Community Support Fund Webinar

Next Steps/Outstanding for Next Year

The Women's Committee spent some time reflecting on and evaluating the programs provided and concluded that while the four activities offered annually were still relevant, they should be a thematic focus which links these activities in a reporting year. As a result, the next steps are developing a thematic focus, seeking funding, and developing a website to host resources

Acknowledgements

Without volunteers there is no JCA, therefore, I take this opportunity to acknowledge all JCA volunteers for giving of your time and energy, so that the organization continues to flourish. I would like to specifically acknowledge members of the Women's Committee for their dedication, commitment and hard work, to ensure we provide successful events. Deep appreciation to JCA Past President Audrey Campbell and Past Vice President Alton Brooks for continued support of the Women's Committee. Acknowledgement to President Adamoa Patterson for her tireless and patient leadership.

Successes and Accomplishments

The successful events presented by the Women's Committee along with the positive media coverage are aligned with the JCA strategic plan of a strong JCA Brand as they added to the positive perception of the organization. The financial success of IWD also aligns with JCA strategic plan of generating adequate cash flow. Attendance at all events was good. Totals were: The Roundtable 30; the Health and Wellness Fair 47; Movie and Gifting 24; and International Women's Day 180, with Revenue over expenses of $1,019.00.

JCA relies extensively on members and volunteers to run the organization.
